

Matthew Lavy appointed as Nominet Dispute Resolution Expert

Nominet, the company responsible for running the .UK namespace has announced the addition of nine new Experts for its award winning Dispute Resolution Service (DRS).

The DRS was established in 2001 to provide an efficient and transparent method of resolving disputes relating to their .UK domain names. Disputes are sought to be settled by mediation when possible, and when not, through an independent Expert decision.

More information on the DRS service and the full list of independent experts is available on the Nominet website.
