

SCL Student Tech Law Challenge 2019

This year's Society of Computers and Law Student Tech Law Challenge took place on 22nd February at The University of Law. The event was organised by Laura Wright and other members of the SCL Junior Lawyers' Group.

Challenges on the day include negotiating the commercial terms of an IT/Technology Contract and some reactive tasks that test legal and business knowledge, commercial decision-making and presentation skills. The tasks are all relevant to legal issues at the forefront of current tech law practice including Intellectual Property, Information Technology, Data Protection and Cyber Security.

Rebecca Keating acted as a mentor for the day and helped to guide the students through the challenges offering support and advice.
