

Simon Henderson joins M4C Mediators Panel

Simon Henderson of 4 Pump Court has successfully been appointed to the panel of M4C mediators.

Simon adds “I am delighted to be joining this exciting new organisation. Although mediation has become increasingly popular in recent years, it is still under-used in the construction world where traditional forms of dispute resolution are often seen as the first rather than the last option. I am confident that M4C can play an important role in changing this culture and by doing so, M4C can provide real assistance to all those involved in the construction industry to achieve cost-effective solutions which benefit all parties to disputes. I am greatly looking forward to contributing to this change.”

More information about the appointment and M4C can be found here.