

Supreme Court decision in FCA business interruption insurance test case

The Supreme Court has handed down the final judgment in the case of The Financial Conduct Authority v. Arch Insurance \(UK\) Ltd and Others. The Business interruption insurance test case determines whether existing business interruption insurance policies will cover policy holders for business lost due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Rachel Ansell QC and Martyn Naylor appeared on behalf of QBE UK Ltd, instructed by Clyde & Co.

The full judgment is now available to read online.

Read full judgment