

Technology and the Law Policy Commission – Algorithms in the Justice System

On 12 November 2018 Matthew Lavy will be taking part in The Law Society's second of three public sessions as a witness, where the use of algorithms in the justice system will be explored.

This second session aims to present insights into the making, sale and use of algorithms in the justice system in England and Wales. The Commission will attempt to predict future developments in order to understand what may arise.

Event Details

12 November 2018 from 1-4pm.

The Law Society's Hall, 113 Chancery Lane, London, WC2A 1PL.

For more information, click here.