Join Lynne McCafferty QC and Sanjay Patel for the latest of our international webinars.

Performance bonds are an important feature of construction projects and are often used for tactical purposes, particularly where market conditions are challenging.

This webinar will consider recent case-law on performance bonds in international commercial courts and will examine what employers have to do to make successful calls on these bonds, and the circumstances in which contractors can challenge them.

For those who were unable to join the session – a recording is now available to download.
